SHERMAN RETIRED FROM THE ARMY

Gardiner Hubbard Speaks in Favor of the Postal Telegraph and Denounces the Western Union—Congressional Notes

Sherman's Retirement Announced

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—The president to-day issued the following order announcing the retirement of General Sherman: "General William T. Sherman, general of the army, having this day reached the age of 64 years, is, in accordance with the law, placed on the retired list of the army, without reduction in pay and allowance. The announcement of the severance from command of the army of one who has been for so many years its distinguished chief can but awaken in the minds not only of the army but of the people of the United States mingled emotions of regret and gratitude, at the withdrawal from active military service of an officer whose lofty sense of duty has been a model for all soldiers since he first entered the army, July, 1840, and gratitude freshly awakened for services of incalculable value rendered by him in the war for the Union, which his great military genius and daring did so much to end. The president deems this a fitting occasion to give expression in this manner to the gratitude felt towards General Sherman by fellow citizens, and to hope that Providence may grant him many years of health and happiness in relief from the active duties of his profession.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR, president."

Washington Notes.

The president has approved the bill appropriating [illegible] for the benefit of destitute Indians.

Rear Admiral Edward Simpson will be appointed president of the naval advisory board, and Commander S. R. Franklin superintendent of the naval observatory upon the retirement of Rear Admiral [illegible].

Representative Fincenfront has been instructed by the house committee on banking and currency to report a bill for the exchange of trade dollars for standard silver dollars, at par, by January 1, 1885.

The president has approved the sentences of dismissal in the cases of First Lieutenant William L. [illegible], Twenty-first infantry and First Lieutenant Joseph F. Cummings, Third cavalry, tried and convicted on charges of duplicating their pay accounts. An order will be issued from the war department to-morrow dismissing them from the army.

House.

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.

[illegible] offered the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, The death of Wendell Phillips has deprived America of an orator worthy to rank with her greatest, from Patrick Henry of Virginia to Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, and

WHEREAS, His life was an incessant and unselfish struggle for liberty of mankind, irrespective of race and creed, country or condition; be it

Resolved, By the house of representatives, that it laments the death of Wendell Phillips as a national bereavement which at once deprives the American rostrum of a superb intellect and human freedom of a friend.

Eaton objected.

Randall submitted a conference report on the relief bill, announcing a further disagreement, agreed to.

The house then proceeded to consideration of the report of the committee on rules.

Cox's (New York) amendment creating a select committee on the tenth census, pending when the house adjourned yesterday, was agreed to—160 to 40.

The rule regulating admissions to the floor was amended, by excluding ex-senators from that privilege—129 to 23.

An amendment was offered by Reid fixing the order of business was discussed an hour. The [illegible] was principally in the direction of pointing out the utter impracticability of having any public business done in the house except the passage of appropriation bills.

Randall, from the committee on appropriations, reported the naval appropriation bill, and gave notice that it would be called up next Tuesday.

Randall, in closing the debate on the rules, reviewed the impossibility of congress transacting more than a very small per cent of the business before it. In the 38th congress the whole number of bills introduced was less than 1,000. In the last congress it was more than 10,000. He opposed the amendment as it would tear down every restraint between extravagance and economy. He suggested that remedy was not to be found in rules, but in legislation as would provide tribunals for private claims and pensions.

Reed's amendment was lost—yeas 120, nays 13[illegible].

Herbert moved to recommit the resolution with instructions to report it back with an additional providing that when the house [illegible] to the house on the [illegible] calendar or in committee of the whole it shall be in order for [illegible] under direction of a committee to make a [illegible] to the appropriate [illegible].

The report of the committee on rules was then adopted.

[illegible] offered a resolution requesting the president to [illegible] the delivery of Senor Carlos Aguero, now in prison at Key West and held for extradition on the demand of the government of Spain, until it shall be ascertained that charges against him are true and that he is not held for political offenses. Referred.

The first bill on the calendar was one to provide for the muster and pay of certain officers and enlisted men in the volunteer forces. It authorizes the secretary of war to correct the muster rolls of the volunteer forces so that the muster of officers and enlisted men shall cover the whole period during which they were regularly commissioned and actually performed duties to which they were so commissioned, or were prevented from performing their duties by reason of wounds received.

After a short debate the committee rose and the bill passed.

[illegible] introduced a joint resolution appropriating $500,000 for sufferers in the Ohio floods and its tributaries. Referred.

Adjourned until Monday.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.

Frye reported the new shipping bill agreed upon by the committee on commerce, entitled "A bill to remove certain burdens from the American merchant marine and encourage the foreign carrying trade." Frye made an explanation of the bill and said, continuing, he hoped it would receive careful consideration. It would enable Americans to take a step in advance of anything done for its shipping interests in the last twenty years. He said the burdens and barnacles placed upon these important interests by our own laws would be removed, and something done to enable the United States to recover our supremacy on the ocean. Speaking for himself alone he said there was but one way on earth in his opinion, in which to revive American shipping. That was to pay subsidies and bounties. So far as he was concerned he was in favor of both.

[illegible] on behalf of the minority of the committee from which the bill was reported, said that although all favored the bill reported, they did not pursue the bill touched the main difficulty which [illegible] down our commerce. Other countries permitted their citizens to buy ships wherever they could buy them the cheapest, but it was necessary for the United States to go back to barbarism to the restrictions of the days of Cromwell, and say to its people they should not buy ships in the cheapest markets. This and the tariff system of the United States were the fundamental causes for the decline of American shipping. Vest submitted an amendment providing for free ships and materials. The bill as reported was placed on the calendar.

Bills introduced and referred.

Hale called up the conference report on the Greely relief expedition.

The chair announced that the bill, from a point of view of parliamentary law, was in possession of the house of representatives and that no motion or remarks could be made relating to it except by unanimous consent.

Hale asked unanimous consent, owing to an emergency, to take the bill up.

Ingalls remarked that much had been said about emergency, when in fact no expedition could leave before May. He severely criticised the conduct of the secretary of the navy in impertinently attempting, as Ingalls said, to interfere with the legislation of congress by sending a communication to members of one house on the subject of legislation while that subject was under consideration by the other house, and with a view of preventing an agreement between the two houses.

Hale defended the secretary of the navy, claiming that what he had done was not impertinent, but quite proper.

The point of parliamentary law was gotten over by a suggestion by the chair that the secretary of the senate take a communication to the house asking for the condition of the bill.

The matter was then dropped and the senate took up the Mexican land grant titles bill.

Bowen spoke at length on the amendment heretofore offered by him.

Many other amendments were offered, which for the most part were rejected. The debate was participated in by Bayard, Conger, Plumb, Van Wyck, Dolph, Sherman and Coke. Finally the debate closed and the bill passed.

Hawley moved an executive session, which was voted down, and the senate adjourned until Monday.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT CHAT

JUDGE BUCKNER INTERVIEWED

WASHINGTON, Jan 8.—Special.—Judge Buckner, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, said to-day that a diversity of sentiment in the senate with regard to the best method of [illegible] against the threatened contraction of [illegible] had prevented any positive action. [illegible] "I believe the committee will harmonize on [illegible] McPherson's bill to authorize national bank [illegible] up to the par value of their [illegible]."

"Will that provide against impending contraction?" was asked.

"I don't think it will," was Buckner's reply, "[illegible] it will [illegible] of [illegible] before the [illegible] though [illegible] this measure would [illegible] it will help to enlighten the people upon the [illegible] question."

Speaking of silver Mr. Buckner expressed the [illegible] that no legislation with regard to [illegible] would be enacted, beyond the passage of a [illegible] redeem trade dollars. He says assaults upon silver [illegible] of late because [illegible] the country out of [illegible] it will be made to put through any bill to [illegible] silver.

MEETING OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb 7.—Special.—A meeting of the [illegible] committee on civil service reform was held [illegible] morning, and various bills before it were [illegible] among the members for consideration [illegible].

[illegible] these bills are by Shaw of Illinois and one by [illegible] of Kentucky and propose to repeal the [illegible] law. This is a [illegible] of the committee, and its probable action has created some talk. Interviews with members show a feeling of opposition that is strong on both sides of the house. Many declare the whole thing is a farce and that they take no interest in the matter whatever. Almost as many others state that they are opposed to the law as unpopular and unconstitutional, and that they will vote to repeal it. Though Mr. Randall has said it is probable the committee would report a bill for the civil service commission, it is generally thought it will not pass, and that the law will be amended in a manner that will amount to the same.

AN APPEAL FOR THE CALIFORNIA AND OREGON

WASHINGTON, Feb [illegible]—Special.—Miller presented to the senate this morning a memorial from the Sacramento board of trade petitioning congress not to declare forfeited the land grant of the California and Oregon Railroad Company. The possession of the land is necessary, the memorial says, for completion of the road through to the Oregon line, thus forming a through connection to the Columbia river, without which the road would be comparatively valueless. Without this road the commercial center of trade in the northern section of California would be cut off. Congress should now be guided by the same reasons in preventing its forfeiture that led it originally to make the grant. California is deeply interested in its completion to northern waters, which will bring lower rates of freight. The memorial is signed by Joseph Stephens, president, and the board of directors.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE

WASHINGTON, Feb [illegible].—A number of members of the house committee on commerce expressed views before the committee on the subject of inter-state commerce. Reagan and Clardy will give their opinions at a meeting to-morrow. A majority of the members who have spoken on the subject before the committee expressed themselves in favor of the commission. In some instances the commission recommended is one to secure data for future legislation. Those advocating it believing there is not sufficient information before the committee to act with intelligence.

A majority of the committee seem to favor immediate legislation to prevent discrimination in rates, and the appointment of a commission to which questions in dispute shall be referred for final decision. Several of the more prominent members of the committee express the opinion that a bill, embracing those provisions, will be reported.

THE CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE AXTELL

The sub-committee of the house judiciary committee, consisting of Seney, Broadhead, Maybury, Bisbee and McCoid, to-day heard R. T. Webb of New Mexico in support of charges made by him against Chief Justice Axtell of the supreme court of New Mexico. The charges cover many papers, but may be summed up as follows: General irregularities in the discharge of official duties and incompetency. Coleman, who prosecuted into the official conduct of Supervising Architect Hill, will conduct the investigation.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Gardiner Hubbard Replies to President Green and Denounces the Western Union

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—Gardiner G. Hubbard made a statement before the senate committee on post-offices and post roads to-day upon the general subject of postal telegraph and particularly in answer to the recent argument of Dr. Norvin Green. He said that under the pressure of this discussion the Western Union telegraph, according to the admission of the president, had been forced to begin the work of reducing rates and improving its methods. Between the years of 1868 and 1878 the average rates had been reduced from $1.0[illegible] to [illegible] cents per message [illegible]. In this reduction the number of telegrams had increased from [illegible] 000,000 to 24,000,000 per annum and the profits from $2,[illegible] 000 to $5,[illegible] 000. [illegible] changes had taken place in the policy of the Western Union Company by which other lines had been absorbed and the reduction of rates ceased. From 1878 to the present time reduction was very slight. Was this the way to treat the public, and not the Western Union Company know that new competition would be brought out? The whole history of the company, excepting the period from 1868 to 1878, would teach this. It was this course of the Western Union that had led the public to ask if the stockholders had not fared well enough and if the public had not some rights in the premises. It was true, went on, what was [illegible]. [illegible]

[illegible]

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

In answer to an inquiry by Senator [illegible], Hubbard said [illegible] the Western Union had [illegible] contributions by Western Union [illegible] was [illegible].

Senator Hill asked what grounds the speaker had for asserting that under his (Hill's) bill there would be an annual deficit.

Hubbard said in reply that the average cost of sending a telegram was 25 cents in any [illegible] to which distance was not material. The average distance of telegrams was 300 miles, a message for a shorter distance was handled at a smaller expense, while for a distance more than 500 miles the expense of handling was above the sum named. A uniform rate would not increase the volume of business for a short distance because the present rates are already below the proposed rate, and the increase would be entirely on messages for long distances. The policy under such bill would be to have rates one each for short and long distances.

Senator Palmer referred to what might be termed the moral aspect of the question, the most difficult feature, he said, of the whole question. Innocent purchasers had invested their money in this stock, and he asked that matter should be dealt with.

HUBBARD'S REPLY

Hubbard said in reply that when the innocent lay down with the guilty they must suffer the consequences. These persons had associated themselves with the guilty. The Western Union had paid fifteen years ago, that in [illegible] its capital stock nor its bonds, doubts should be increased except by the consent of two thirds of the stockholders. This was a pledge to their money. They changed their policy in 1881 [illegible] supposed the [illegible] interest in their share. [illegible]

Senator Hill remarks that a [illegible] to assert that congress [illegible] could not disregard these [illegible] a telegraph system [illegible] There were only [illegible] Western Union contest and the [illegible] that half the stock.

AN INNOVATION

Hubbard, proceeding, said rates were too high for the service [illegible]. Evarts had said that the [illegible] received. This was only theoretically true. But there was no [illegible] What were the results of the Western Union to the people [illegible] The Western Union was controlled by three or four gentlemen in New York. It controlled the market prices. All political and general news was sent over its wires, as was also every important personal communication sent in the country. This company was doing its best, but except the interests of its owners [illegible] state [illegible] pass a law which would have any effect on this corporation. Was there any other like power in the world? It would handle [illegible] messages ten years hence. Through its agency it [illegible] market news in London and Paris. A fraction of a penny a pound on cotton was a fortune to any man. They admitted no partnership in this business. He made no charges, but he believed this was too large a power to intrust to any man or any company.

THE PRESS COMMITTEE'S AWARD

How is it with the press? The Western Union company and the Associated Press make a close corporation. He did not mean to say there was any fault to be found in the present management. Some time ago two papers in San Francisco discussed the postal telegraph and rates to these papers were increased. One paper died in consequence and the other ceased to discuss the matter. A paper which once criticised Orton's course found its rates doubled next day. This was the power that this corporation held. Dr. Green had said the Western Union would be glad to come in and bid for service, and he (Hubbard) would favor the introduction of a provision to permit this.

Evarts had referred to a private contract between the sender of a message and the Western Union company. What was that private contract? Why, simply if any error was made in transmission the company would refund the sum paid for transmission, nothing else.

Congressman Ochiltree Is Said to Have Won Mackay's Daughter's Hand

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—It is reported that Congressman Ochiltree is engaged to be married to Miss Mackay, daughter of the bonanza millionaire. The report has been republished here [illegible] at least Ochiltree's assertion of the fact [illegible] Congressman Cassidy of Nevada of the way in which the engagement was brought about. Last spring he was in New York and when there he met his old friend Mackay. In the course of conversation Mackay said: "I'm old boy, why don't you get married?" Ochiltree replied: "Oh, I never have yet found a gal who [illegible]." "[illegible] have me," [illegible] Mackay. [illegible] "Mackay, old boy, I propose to test your sincerity. THE WORK OF RELIEF GOES NOBLY ON

Several Lives Known to Have Been Lost—The Outlook Less Hopeful at Many Places—Full Details

CINCINNATI, Feb 8, [illegible] A. M.—The river stands [illegible] feet 4½ inches and [illegible]. The weather [illegible]. The cold wave flag [illegible] from the signal office yesterday has disappeared. Hopes of a cold spell are disappointed, and no relief is expected at the headwaters, but a further rise [illegible] before it all runs out.

Noon.—The river has been rising more rapidly since [illegible]. At noon it stands [illegible] feet [illegible] inches, being a rise of 2 inches in three hours. No additional losses have been reported and there has been no loss of life this side of the river. In Newport, Kentucky, early this morning, Wm. [illegible], a sailor of the United States troops at Newport barracks, fell from a skiff while trying to reach the second story of the [illegible] and drowned. Mrs. Wadle, a widow living at Newport, became a raving maniac on account of the flood. She was a poor woman with several small children living in the flooded districts. Neighbors took charge of her children and of her, but being unable to console her children, she imagined them drowned and to-day is hopelessly insane.

[illegible] P. M.—The river is [illegible] feet [illegible] inches. The weather is warmer with a drizzling rain.

THE OUTLOOK

CINCINNATI, Feb 8.—The day has been one of anxious suspense and constant speculation as to the continuance of the rise. The average during the day has been slightly over half an inch an hour. The weather is cloudy with occasional drizzling showers. All eyes are turned of course up the river. There the prospects are not encouraging. From a fall is pronounced at Pittsburg and Wheeling, but thence downward the news has been bad until Gallipolis is reached. From the west to Cincinnati there is still no communication with Parkersburg or Marietta. News from Zanesville however that the Muskingum river was was at an unprecedented height and still rising showed that the chance for a fall at Marietta will be small, for the Muskingum enters the Ohio at that point. At Gallipolis at [illegible] P. M. the river had risen [illegible] inches above the high water mark of last year, and was still rising at about four inches an hour. A general rain has fallen along the west side of the mountains. Chattanooga reports a four inch rain fall in the past thirty-six hours in east Tennessee. Coming further down the river, Catlettsburg, Kentucky at noon reports a heavy rain and says the storm is general. This makes the Big Sandy another feeder of the Ohio at that point. These facts indicate that the fall cannot be rapid and at the best the fall cannot reach Cincinnati before Monday or Tuesday next. With the present rate that will bring the water above last year's flood. This estimate is based on a continuance of the present weather prospect. The cold weather has gone and there is greater probability of more rain.

WILL CALL OUT THE STATE MILITIA

CINCINNATI, Feb 8, [illegible] P. M.—The relief committee, in conjunction with Mayor Stephens, has decided to call out the militia to-night to serve as a stand patrol on account of the darkness. The president of the gas company says the supply of gas will not be sufficient to last through the night. Three hundred men will be placed on duty. The river was [illegible] feet 7¼ inches at [illegible] P. M.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb 8.—The river stands [illegible] feet and is falling slowly. The steamer [illegible] went to Bellaire [illegible] with passengers to Moundsville. The weather is cloudy and cold.

[illegible] SUSPENDED

WHEELING, Feb 8.—Business still almost totally suspended and the entire populace is gathered in the streets watching the slowly receding flood. The water has fallen about a foot. The weather is cooler. As the waters recede the full extent of the devastation becomes more apparent. Houses are in their cellars and washed to some distance from their sites are entirely carried away. Barns and stables are [illegible] wherever any property was [illegible]. One or two city bridges are endangered and the river [illegible] were carried away. The water reaches from hill to hill at the south end and in many places near the city the river is a lake from one to three miles wide. The Baltimore and Ohio and the Cleveland and Pittsburg railways are under water for miles and there is no railroad traffic nearer than [illegible] miles to the city. Fugitives are camped on the hilltops, besides those accommodated in churches, schools and markets and many private stores. Blast furnaces are chilled in many cases by water reaching the fire. The water is still falling at the rate of an inch an hour.

GREAT SUFFERING

WHEELING, Feb 8.—Word has been received that the people of Wellsburg, twenty miles up the river, are absolutely suffering from famine. At Benwood the situation was as bad but a relief party visited there on the steamer Regular and left a liberal supply of provisions. Window glass works believed to be from Wellsburg have lodged in the south end of the city.

Distress and suffering caused by the flood is hourly growing worse. With all the [illegible] who can be employed the relief committees are not able to find the homeless and destitute as fast as supplies are needed. Glass [illegible] public and private [illegible] [illegible].

Five immense slides cover nearly a mile of B. & O. road between here and Moundsville, and it will be a week after the falling of the water before trains reach here.

Wheeling is fairly [illegible] as nearly all the bakeries are [illegible] water. The [illegible] supply is exhausted and there is no meat except salt meat.

Latest advices from eight towns along the river above this city [illegible] that the water has passed the highest point reached last year. A gorge has formed between this city and Pittsburg, which thus far keeps the flood back, preventing any unusual rise of water here. Between Toledo and Fort Wayne several gorges have also been formed.

AT PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Feb 8.—The rivers are again within their banks and are steadily receding. The Monongahela marks show [illegible] feet 11 inches at noon, with about a foot more in the Allegheny. Streets in this city are almost entirely clear of water and people in the submerged districts are busy to-day cleaning the houses and streets of the yellow slimy mud and debris left behind as unpleasant mementoes of the greatest flood in fifty years.

With the decreasing perils from water come lurking dangers from weakened foundations which may overthrow buildings and from streets and pavements caving in where they have been undermined. There is grave cause for apprehension from these and every precaution will be taken to prevent disaster. Several small [illegible] have occurred in different portions of the city, but no accidents are yet reported.

Travel by street cars was resumed this morning between all sections. Relief committees have been hard at work distributing food and fuel to the needy. Liberal donations of money, food, clothing, and fuel continue pouring in from citizens and [illegible] are still quartered in public halls, and it will be several days before their houses will be in a fit condition for their return to their homes.

AT LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Feb 8.—[illegible] flood situation has not materially changed since yesterday. The river continued rising slowly till 11 o'clock this morning, when it came to a standstill, with 30 feet 6 inches in the canal. The [illegible] river at [illegible] is [illegible]

IRONTON, Ohio, Feb 8.—The river is still rising two inches an hour. All west Ironton is under water. [illegible] villages along the Ohio river the people have left their houses and gone to the high lands. Great distress is reported at various points.

AT GALLIPOLIS

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio, Feb 8.—At 6 P. M. the river is rising 2½ inches per hour and was then [illegible] above the high water mark of last year. The Western Union telegraph has no connection with the places at Parkersburg, Marietta, [illegible], Ashland, Ironton, Buena Vista and West Union.

AT ZANESVILLE

ZANESVILLE, Feb 8.—The Muskingum river is higher than it is now [illegible] known before and is still rising an inch and a half an hour. The [illegible] in Ohio has been touched by water. Only the [illegible] left above it. At [illegible] P. M. the river is 62 feet 4 inches.

AT STEUBENVILLE

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, Feb 8.—The river at this point is [illegible] feet was reached yesterday at 3 P. M., 2 feet higher than the highest previous flood. It has since receded [illegible] inches and continues falling. The loss to private property here is $[illegible], and to railroads is incalculable. No life was lost in this vicinity.

AT VARIOUS POINTS

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Feb 8.—The flood reached the highest point at midnight, being [illegible] inches higher than ever known before. No trains are in the east since Wednesday. Willie Crossing, a few ice men near Ohio [illegible], a lady whose name is unknown, missed her footing and was drowned. Two of the Nelson brothers out boating were struck by a drift of wood and all three drowned. All were under [illegible] years of age.

CARLISLE, Ky., Feb 8.—The situation is deplorable. Only one hotel and one grocery store are open. Three hotels and thirty or more business houses are closed by the flood. The people are occupying the court house and school house. The river is rising two inches an hour.

BUFFALO, O., Feb 8.—The loss will be fully equal to that of last year. Many houses are swept from their foundations. Two hundred families are homeless. The river is rising one and a half inches to-night an hour. A relief committee has been organized, and citizens are aiding all of their unfortunate neighbors.

GENERAL NEWS.

Lecture on the Yellowstone Park.

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—[Special.]—J. W. Barnhill, the North Dakota bonanza farmer, lectured last evening at the Brooklyn Academy of Music about a trip taken by himself and wife to the Pacific coast. Liquor Dealers Excited

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—The excise commissioners have sent out the following circular to all liquor dealers in this city where records of conviction for violation of the excise law have been obtained: "Your license has been revoked, as you have been convicted in courts of special sessions of violation of the excise laws. Inspectors of the bureau will call for your license, according to law, and you will be reported if the police is unlicensed." There is considerable excitement among liquor dealers as a natural consequence.

An Official Denial

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Special.—Norvin Green, president of the Western Union, informs the Tribune that there was nothing in recent rumors of absorption of the Baltimore and Ohio lines by the Western Union. "We did have some negotiations a very fair deal with Robert Garrett, but his father suddenly returned from Europe and broke it off. In fact directed his board to reject the proposition of the Western Union. John W. Garrett is an obstinate man with whom it was impossible to get along pleasantly unless [illegible]."

THE WAR CLOUD DAILY BECOMING DARKER

Granville Sends a Reply to the Address in Answer to the Speech from the Throne—Old World Notes

[illegible] Feb 8.—Advices received here state that General Gordon was heard of a number of miles on the Korosko route beyond the place where it was reported he had been captured. Bedouins around Korosko are showing symptoms of revolt, and fears are therefore entertained for Gordon's safety. Officials at Cairo are confident that General Gordon will succeed in reaching Khartoum.

CAIRO, Feb 8.—The governor of Berber telegraphs that General Gordon has arrived in that province. A letter from Colonel Stewart, General Gordon's military secretary, was sent from Korosko just before he and General Gordon started on their journey through the desert, states that the son of the governor of Berber was their only escort. He says General Gordon has sent a message to troublesome sheiks, saying: "Meet me at Khartoum, if you want peace. I am for peace. If you want war I am ready."

Two [illegible] were killed in the recent fight near Tokar.

FRANCE WANTS A HAND

LONDON, Feb 8.—The French ambassador, in an interview with the British foreign secretary, offered the coöperation of the French forces in Egypt, proposing that French troops be landed at Suakim and march to the relief of Khartoum, the ultimate settlement of the Soudan question to be left to a conference of the powers. Earl Granville reserves a reply to the offers.

PARLIAMENT

Parnell Moves an Amendment to the Reply to the Speech from the Throne

LONDON, Feb 8.—In accordance with previous announcement Parnell offered in the commons to-day an amendment to the address in reply to the queen's speech. The amendment severely censures the policy of the government in Ireland, and asserting that it has failed to tranquilize the people, has wantonly prohibited public meetings, and interfered with free speech, and has permitted magistrates publicly to applaud the conduct of Lord Rossmore, who had been superseded as justice of the peace for [illegible] public order and inciting ill will and strife between the different classes of Ireland. The amendment further demands the immediate abandonment of the policy stimulating sectarian animosities of Irish. In the course of remarks with which he accompanied his motion Parnell asserted that the recent visit of Northcote to Ireland had been a rex[illegible] disturbances. The Orange outrages were, in his opinion, a grave [illegible] due to the conservatives whom Northcote had dragged at the heels of a discredited Irish faction.

Continuing Parnell said the Orange demonstrations were not spontaneous, but were attended by hirelings paid by landlords. Orange opposition to national meetings was violent and seditious. [illegible] Every one [illegible] therein was liable to prosecution under the intimidation clause of the crimes act. Recent events in north Ireland would, however, [illegible] when Ireland will legislate for herself.

Sullivan, member for West Meath, said the Orangemen were betraying the spread of loyalty in north Ireland.

Churchill, conservative, said the dismissal of Lord Rossmore was a bait to catch the Irish vote.

Trevelyan, chief secretary for Ireland, said that matters had been brought to a point that would be considered to any country. Rents were being more regularly paid than in center and east England. Incitements to boycotting and violence were no longer obeyed. The idea that the government had appointed Lord Rossmore to win the Irish vote was almost as wild as Parnell's statement that the government was actuated by a desire to play it to the hands of the Orangemen. It was regrettable to the lord lieutenant of Ireland that few during the last [illegible] so many armed and excited men were [illegible] the town.

THE WHIGS MAKE A CANVASS

THE SMUGGLING OF CHINESE.

A Company in Port Townsend Makes a Business of Running Coolies Across the Line

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 8.—Special.—The Chronicle to-day contains a letter from Port Townsend respecting the smuggling of Chinese into Washington territory from British Columbia. The following is taken from it: The business of running coolies over the border is still being carried on. This is the headquarters of the trade on the American side and Victoria and Westminster are points from which little companies of Chinamen varying from eight to forty in number with one or two pilots or guides set out. [illegible] heard now of the business because it is now [illegible] and [illegible] passing of the coolies across the line [illegible] in this [illegible] company than ever [illegible] into the country. The fact is well known to the [illegible] here, but the limited force at the disposal of Collector Beach makes it almost impossible for him to break up the illicit trade. A [illegible] company here employ [illegible] to [illegible] Chinamen in Victoria to bring them over in [illegible] of Chinamen across the Sound to Dungeness, Port Discovery or Point Wilson. The distance is [illegible] thirty [illegible] which [illegible] by the [illegible] during the night. The company has found a [illegible] [illegible]

WHERE ARE [illegible]

[illegible] a steamer [illegible] Washington territory [illegible] British Columbia [illegible] the collector that is [illegible] Chinese [illegible] The [illegible] place he said that the [illegible] were [illegible] of the estimated [illegible] in the South in [illegible] seventeen [illegible] during the day. There is no force available for [illegible] duty on the coast to prevent the smuggling.

There are also signs that the traffic will be carried on more extensively in the spring than ever before. Five thousand coolies on the Canadian Pacific were discharged in November and December. A large number of idle Chinamen are in the market in British Columbia seeking employment and wages there will certainly gradually decline.

THE SPECIAL [illegible] AGENT'S MISSION

Collector Beach has tried to suppress this violation of law and for the force he has had at his disposal he has held it in check as much as possible. Collector Beach has not received the cordial support of the special treasury agent here who was sent to be the [illegible] on the Sound who [illegible] that Chinese laborers are being brought into the country unlawfully. He has not indorsed the collector's urgent request to the department in Washington for an increase in force, to guard the Sound coast. The agent here is a brother of Representative Hore of Michigan and also of the Hore whom Judge Hollins defeated in northern Ohio in the last congressional election. Since his arrival on this coast he has failed to give a hearty and cordial support to the collector. It is part in his efforts to suppress violation. The result [illegible] is presumed, that he takes this position for political purposes, as it is [illegible] will [illegible] in order to [illegible] he now occupies and [illegible] desire the present incumbent to acquire an unusual [illegible] in suppressing the smuggling trade. [illegible] have been directed to another [illegible] question [illegible] that only a stray Chinaman now and then lands on forbidden ground.

This traffic might be suppressed with a small additional force. It is estimated by an inquirer here that [illegible] lies have already been [illegible] into the territory.

THE FIRE RECORD

[illegible] CITY [illegible]

[illegible] CITY, [illegible].—This afternoon a large tank at the Standard oil works [illegible] at [illegible] ignited with terrific force. The explosion was followed by a burst of flame which soon enveloped the tank. In quick succession there were seven other explosions, tanks of naphtha, tar and distilled oil being masses of flames. In a few minutes afterwards eight tanks in all, each containing from 1500 to 1000 barrels of oil, were destroyed. Flames continued to burst forth for several hours. The fire was got under control this evening. Sections besides [illegible] the great tank, [illegible] having a frontage of [illegible] feet on East river, in which were about 150 barrels of oil and 2000 empty barrels and also about [illegible] feet of wharf on East river and the Anabie [illegible] together with several small buildings were destroyed. Flames from tank No [illegible], which first exploded, communicating to the warehouse twenty feet distant. Vessels lying at the wharf were towed away or cut adrift. Robert McKay, assistant foreman of the fire company, was severely burned. The loss as near as can be ascertained will foot up $75,000. There is partial insurance on the building and the tanks. The shock of the explosion was felt several miles away. Many windows were broken in houses two miles distant, on Blackwell's island. The works will be rebuilt.

RAILROAD NOTES.

RUSSELL SAGE'S VIEWS

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Special.—Russell Sage said to-day: "I think with a settlement of the trunk line pool differences the last of the shadows overhanging the stock market disappears. The present bull movement is well sustained against all opponents. Our intention is to sustain the market until public confidence is established. Outsiders can only be persuaded of the genuineness of the revival in the financial market by prolonged elevation of prices."

APPLICATION TO LIST

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Application has been made to the stock exchange by the Oregon and California railroad to list $1,000,000 additional first mortgage [illegible] per cent. bonds.

NOTABLE DEAD

DEATH OF MRS GENERAL MERCHANT

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Merchant, widow of General Merchant U. S. A., who commanded troops in Southern California in 1850, died at Carlisle, Penn., Sunday. She was well known on the Pacific coast in early days and was, with her husband, one of the few survivors of the steamship San Francisco, wrecked off Hatteras in 1854. She died within a few hours of Mrs. General Dix, whose husband was lieutenant in the same company with General Merchant in 1834.

In Wall Street

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Governments steady. The harmonious conference of representatives of trunk lines yesterday and the announcement that the presidents of the various companies had given their personal pledge to maintain rates, had a strengthening influence on stocks to-day. In early dealings the market was somewhat unsettled and prices generally were a fraction lower. Before the first call, however, strong buying movements set in which carried prices up [illegible] to [illegible]. In the last hour the market became strong, and buoyant. The market closed strong at the best figures of the day.

Lee Defeats the Victoria Oarsman by Four Lengths.

SULLIVAN SHOWS HIS BAD DISPOSITION

Intensely Cold Weather at Truckee—The Utah Legislature a Farce—San Francisco News Notes—Etc

VICTORIA (via Seattle), Feb 8.—The race between Cotsford and Lee took place to-day in Esquimalt harbor. The judges were Edward Hanlan for Lee and T. Jones for Cotsford. Lieutenant Hatch of H. M. S. Heroine acted as referee. Cotsford caught the water first, and gained a slight advantage, but Lee recovered quickly and before they had rowed 200 yards he had taken the lead. When passing the war ship Heroine Lee was a full length ahead, and this advantage he kept with apparently little difficulty until the first two miles were passed. At the turning point Lee turned about ten seconds ahead of his opponent. On the home stretch Cotsford gained a little but it was evident to all that Lee was playing with the British Columbia oarsman. He kept the lead steadily, rowing easy and splashing the water at every stroke. When about half a mile from the starting point both oarsmen spurted and again Cotsford reduced the distance between him and his opponent, but by this time all knew that Lee would win the race. When passing the Heroine (on the return) Lee bent to his work and the distance between the two boats was perceptibly increased until the finish, when he came in ahead fully four lengths. A great deal of British Columbia money was lost on this race, which was witnessed by 3000 people.

Sullivan's sparring this evening to an immense house. Among the audience are the governor and the supreme court judges.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Sullivan Becomes Quarrelsome

VICTORIA, Feb 8.—Victorians have gone fairly crazy over Sullivan. Many patrons of the English ring now resident here pronounce him the finest specimen of manhood ever seen. Sullivan attended a dinner given last night to Hanlan, Lee and Cotsford. He told one gentleman to dry up or he would make him, and continued to exhibit his amiable proclivities until his remarks became so offensive that the chairman requested him to sit down or leave. He chose the latter alternative and saying he could wipe out the whole crowd and other like expressions finally left the room. While at the table he drank three bottles of champagne in quick succession and a lot of beer glass.

At the slugging match to-night McCoy boxed one O'Brien and knocked him down four times in ten seconds. A [illegible] of local [illegible] reputation had agreed to meet Sullivan to-night, but backed out. The house was only half full although prices were reduced to one dollar.

The Legislature

VICTORIA, Feb 8.—The crown land bill, which has passed the legislature, raises the price of land to speculators to $[illegible] an acre and limits each purchase to 640 acres. Actual settlers are to get land at $1 an acre [illegible] limited to 160 acres. The price of coal lands is reduced from $10 to $5 an acre. [illegible]

A bill granting [illegible] will pass.

CALIFORNIA

A Shabby Ending of Business

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 8.—Special.—A shabby [illegible] of business on the part of members of the Dashaway Total Association in dividing the property of the association among themselves has just come to light. Several years ago a hall was built by public subscription on [illegible] street and turned over to the association. For a long time the hall was used for the purpose for which it was intended, but at last interest in the affair waned and the hall became a club house for members of the association. A few months ago it was sold and the proceeds divided among the members of the association, amounting to $1800 each. For a long period prior to the sale all the division applicants for membership were systematically blackballed and the membership was reduced to the lowest possible point by many expedients more or less discreditable. Articles of division and silence closely followed and the transaction was only made public to-day. The exposure has made a sensation in a small way and is considered a black eye to temperance reform work in Frisco.

World's Fair Announcement

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 8.—The executive committee of the San Francisco World's Fair have issued an address to the public announcing that it has been determined to obtain a subscription of half a million dollars in this city before seeking aid from federal, state or municipal governments. It is further stated that the conditions on which this subscription will be taken up will be made known by a finance committee to be organized at a meeting to be held March 3.

UTAH

The Legislature Accomplishing Nothing

SALT LAKE, Feb 8.—The Utah legislature composed exclusively of monogamist Mormons has been in session four weeks and has passed two unimportant bills. Being elected under the Edmunds law the Utah commissioners anticipated that the legislature would enact laws placing the territory in accord with the government, but nothing is liable to occur justifying their anticipations. Governor Ramsey and Judge Carleton, the only members of the commission at present in the territory, are closely observing the situation. The Gentiles think the commissioners will recommend the substitution of a legislative commission or something equally effective taking the lawmaking power out of the hands of the Mormon church. It is conceded that monogamist Mormon legislators are as subservient to the church as the polygamists and would do the bidding of its leaders.

A GOOD COMPARISON.

The Rev. William Roulatt, a well known Methodist clergyman, residing at Naples, draws the following amusing, but apt comparison between Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a ferret.

"A ferret when placed at the entrance of a rat hole enters the aperture, travels along the passage, seizes upon the rat, exterminates his existence and draws the animal's defunct carcass to the light. And in like manner have I found Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge to operate upon worms, those dreadful and dangerous tormentors of children. This remedy, like the ferret, enters the aperture of the mouth, travels down the gullet, hunts round the stomach and lays hold of the worms, shakes the life out of the reptiles, sweeps clean their den, and carries their carcasses clear out of the system. This, at least, has been the effect of the Vermifuge upon my children."

THE LAW FOR THE MAYOR'S CASE

We are asked to state once more the law under which the corrupt mayor of the city of Portland could be prosecuted and removed from office. We state it as briefly as possible.

The constitution of Oregon, article 2, section 7 says "Every person shall be disqualified from holding office during the term for which he may have been elected, who shall have given or offered a bribe, threat or reward to procure his election."

J. A. Chapman when he engaged to appoint certain persons to office in consideration of their support and the payment of money to himself undoubtedly offered a reward to procure his election.

The civil code of Oregon, section 354 provides that an action at law may be maintained in the name of the state upon information of the prosecuting attorney, or upon the relation of a private party "when any public officer has done an act which by the provisions of law makes a forfeiture of his office."

Have we not here the conditions on which a proceeding against the faithless and corrupt mayor of the city of Portland may be based? Did he not offer rewards to procure his election, thereby doing an act which makes a forfeiture of his office? The case seems to be a very plain one, and the remedy is as plainly indicated.

In the fifth volume of the Oregon reports there is a case in which there is some discussion of what will constitute an offer of reward. Between that case and the present one there is only a general resemblance, but the line of reasoning employed by the court takes in the general principle applicable to all cases of this kind. Judge Bonham, quoting from and approving a decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin, said "When our elections to fill public offices cease to express the free, intelligent and unbiased judgement and choice of the electors, when they shall be controlled or materially influenced by offers made by the candidates, * * * a most vital condition of free government will be disregarded. * * * The courts have steadily held that popular elections must be kept free from any taint of corruption and from all unlawful and improper influences whatever."

The offer of reward in this case was plainly that if certain persons would bring about the conditions which would make J. A. Chapman mayor he would appoint them to certain lucrative offices, and the sequel shows that after they had performed their share of the contract he attempted to fulfill his part of it. After he became mayor he recognized the corrupt bargain through which he was made mayor and endeavored to confer the rewards as he had promised. No lawyer doubts that an action brought as above for forfeiture of the office would hold in this case and as the members of the committee of investigation are ready to make the complaint, and as the prosecuting attorney has signified to them and to others his willingness and purpose to commence the action as soon as the murder and other criminal cases now set for trial in the court can be disposed of we shall undoubtedly have a test of the law in its relation to his flagrant offense against public policy and honest government.

A MILLIONAIRE'S SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY

Not many millionaires are so clear sighted as Mr C P Huntington manager of the Central Pacific railroad's relations with the government and the people, and yet he seems to have taken the Horatian phrase for his rule of action, viz "Video proboque meliora, deteriora sequor." I see and approve of the better things I follow the worse. It seems that he has the ability of perceiving the result of the present tendency of centralizing wealth in the few hands at the expense of the many, for when asked why he didn't build a magnificent residence like Vanderbilt's he simply remarked "I don't want a house that will be so easily found when the hungry fellows break loose." And yet he pursues without a pause a course of which he so clearly sees the end. He knows that the abuses arising from the unscrupulous use of upstart and overgrown wealth will one day be reckoned with, and he is wiser than those who say "after us the deluge," since he thinks it probable the deluge may come in his own time.

This shows that Mr Huntington is more than a mere millionaire. He is a philosopher. He sees that these vast accumulations of wealth by unscrupulous means and their equally unscrupulous use, must cause an upheaval some time, and recognizing the fact that there is going to be trouble he is preparing to lie low. Some others, perhaps, perceiving as he does the tendency of things would endeavor to arrest it by advocating and pursuing a policy which would facilitate a more equitable distribution of wealth and abate the evils arising from corporate monopoly. But that is not Mr Huntington's line. For himself he is getting ready not to be conspicuous when the trouble comes. As for the country at large, he may be willing to leave it to its fate, or he may be trying to do the best he can for it in his own peculiar way. Or perhaps he thinks there is little to choose between falling on the stone to be broken, and letting the stone fall on him and grind him to powder. And so he resolves to go ahead hoping however that the cataclysm may miss him.

The perplexity of the democracy in regard to the tariff question is cleverly pictured by a cartoon in the current number of Puck under the title "Too Many Leaders." The democratic party is represented by a gawk of a soldier of Hibernian cast of countenance who stands with mouth wide open, the very picture of despair, under a guide-post whose fingers point in four different directions—"to free trade," "to tariff reform," "to protection" and "no policy." This poor soldier who looks as if he hadn't intelligence enough to know what to do when told by one officer is further obfusticated by the orders of a number of commanders ranging in rank from a drum major to a field marshal. Carlisle wears "reform" on his beaver. Butler carries a roll of orders labeled "Butlerism." Hewitt points to a "free trade" banner which he holds aloft with Cox supporting his flank. On the other side Randall is marching defiantly in the opposite direction with "protection" emblazoned on his helmet, Bayard is pointing to the middle distance with orders "to dodge the question." Payne wants to retreat under a general command "to straddle every issue," and Sammy Tilden, decked out in continental uniform, points to "ancient issues" on his cockade. The poor, ignorant soldier (the party) stands crouching underneath the guide boards, helpless, hopeless and motionless. This says the Chicago Tribune, will be about the predicament of the democracy when congress shall adjourn, and at the opening of the approaching presidential campaign.

The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican thinks the senate can not stand against such an exhibition of feeling as the house is showing in favor of declaring all the unearned railroad land grants forfeited though some of the forfeitures are known to be inequitable. The Northern Pacific makes the strong claim that congress should have declared the grant forfeited the moment the time expired, and that by allowing the company to go on building on the strength of the credit the grant gave them it established an equity right in the lands which no act can now take away.

The bill forfeiting the Texas Pacific land grant went through the house by a vote of 259 to 1. It would be interesting to get Mr. Huntington's opinion of those 259 gentlemen, if he has any opinions left.

THE IDEAL IN EDUCATION

Lady Mary Wortley Montagu who referred many times to the subject of education in her brilliant letters said that "true knowledge consists in knowing things, not words." "I think it as scandalous," she said, "for a woman not to know how to use a needle as for a man not to know how to use a sword." But a practical education useful as that is, is not the education that makes the best citizen. General intelligence is better than technical training as a stimulus to thrift and enterprise and respect for law. There is a vast difference between the knowledge which is sufficient for a proletariat and that which is sufficient for an American citizen. While we heartily endorse much of the current criticism upon our public school system such as Mr Savage makes in the article in the North American to which reference has been made we have no sympathy with that which proceeds upon the theory that the children of the poor will never rise higher than the position of servants and that it is better therefore to educate them for that place in life to which it has pleased God to call them. This is the essence of all aristocracies. It is contrary to the fundamental view of our national life. We have not exhausted yet the possibilities which some of our presidents have seized who broke their "birth's invidious bar" and made by force their merit known. Every boy born in this country ought to have set before him in childhood the possibility of becoming the president of the United States and every girl ought to have the stimulus of as high an ambition.

The real fault with the system is that it is too mechanical, that it tends to make children smart and facile rather than strong, that it wastes their energies upon an elaborate technic and does not supply the stimulus of ideas. It is based upon the notion that the great object of the American people is to develop the natural products of industry instead of developing to the utmost human life. It was no idle boast of that rugged New England state that it raised men, and women too, the most "faculized" men and women the world has ever seen, as self respecting while holding the plow, or working in the kitchen, as any nobility. They were not trained too fine as many children in the public schools now are. So fine that they have no reserve of impulse and energy. A lady said before the senate committee on education and labor last summer that "beyond primary education, public school education should be technical, or education in things rather than words," and then she illogically added "the formation, responsible control and headship of the home should be qualification for citizenship." Such post-patriots as Jansen had a truer conception of education. In the words of Boyesen in the school for the higher education of Norwegian peasants "he gathers round him the young lads from all the neighboring valleys, talks with them of the great deeds of their forefathers, teaches them the history and geography of their country, discusses the old and modern literatures of the world and constantly strives to rouse their interest in everything good and noble. Those young peasant lads who return to their native valleys after having spent two or three years in daily intercourse with men like Jansen, Bruun and Arveson even if they have acquired but a moderate amount of positive knowledge cannot but carry with them a living consciousness that there is something in this life which without being at variance with the toil of the plow and the harrow still possesses the power to lift the thoughts of men beyond their mold and to exalt and idealize every [illegible]."

Jansen himself says "In my opinion it is upon these schools that the future of our country in many respects depends." It seems strange that such a voice should come from the old world. But if we would escape the real special danger that besets us we must incorporate something of the ideal into our system of education for the young. As a protection against the dwarfing influence of this material age we need the inspiration of memories and ideals. Such as the poet preacher impressed upon the minds of the Norwegian peasants as he cries

> Thou Norway's peasant strong and stern
>   The ancient Saga book I take
> On thy hearth I sit while the fagots burn
>   And with my song thy spirit wake
>
> But if its race forget the race
>   And sons forget their father's cares
> Then remedies are vain alas!
>   The mark of death the race then bears
>
> In spite of sneers and scorn by force
>   Forward to kings and priests ye throng
> With fearless truth in plain discourse
>   And in your father's ancient tongue —
>
> And beg not thought is allowed by grace
>   But battle till your rights are won—
> Then here I name you the proud race
>   Of ancient Sigmund Bresteson

William M Evarts simply remarks that Senator Edmunds would make a good presidential candidate for the republicans. This is at once one of the briefest and one of the best of Mr Evarts' great public efforts. It is questionable whether the republicans have another man of first-class ability and reputation who would be able to secure the support of all classes in the party so well as Mr Edmunds. There will be a hurrah for Blaine but all will not join it. Logan and Lincoln and Sherman will have supporters and opponents too. If republicans want to win beyond a peradventure and at the same time to win with a man whose election would honor their party and the country let them take Edmunds. True he says he does not want the presidency and will not offer himself as a candidate. All the better. Better to be called by the people than to seek the call.

Solicitor Raynor of the treasury who gave that opinion—as is an opinion—refusing a certificate as master of a steam vessel to Mrs Mary A Miller of Louisiana says "No man bows with more sincere devotion to the power, the necessity and the influence of woman than I do. It is my great regard, my admiration for the female character, my elevated conception of its dignity and loveliness that induce me to regard it as an impropriety," etc. A Washington correspondent says that he has shown his great regard for the female character by letting his wife and daughter, a young lady of age to mingle in society, take their meals at a modest boarding house while he aired his official dignity at the table of the Ebbitt house, the family having cheap lodgings together outside. That is the kind of chivalrous southerner Mr Raynor is.

The New York Herald publishes a long letter from a veteran soldier of the regular army which explains why desertions are more frequent in our service than in any other in the world. The three most potent causes of desertion are arbitrary punishment, menial treatment and mechanical and common labor without adequate recompense. The soldier is not treated by his officers or the public as one of the country's defenders but as a man whose reasons for entering the army were not above suspicion as being respected by no one he ceases to respect himself. And yet with decent treatment and with officers as considerate as those of the French or German service our little army might attract thousands of young men too honorable to desert.

In a recent lecture on "Useless Work versus Useless Toil" Mr William Morris the poet, began by attacking the creed that whatever is the produce of labor is good, and that labor itself is good. Labor was good when accompanied by due hope, otherwise it was an evil pure and simple. He would also assert that well regulated work should have pleasure in it—human-like pleasure. The upper middle class did not either work or were highly paid for doing very little work, or they were stimulated by ambition to work knowing that fame and honor would follow, which men born in this class considered their natural birth right. Even in that class those who worked hardest were paid least, and were least honored. Unless revolution swept away our present system of labor, the middle classes would become more stupid, more ferociously unhappy and more degraded than any set of men the world had ever seen. What work they did was dependent upon the class below them generally called the working class. What pleasure had that class in their labor? The rest and leisure of the working man was next to none—so little that he could not be said to have a home at all. Unless he could screw himself by bitter thrift out of his class he was little better than a wheel in a machine.

With both the senators from Oregon on the senate's committee of commerce our state ought to have a fair chance before that body. There is a bit of inside history in connection with the appointment of both our senators on this committee which is of some little interest. By the new rules of the senate the committee became entitled to two additional members. On the republican side it was agreed that Mr Dolph should be the republican member and as Mr Farley of California was already a member of the committee the Pacific states could not expect to get more than one of the new places, if any at all. The democrats, however hearing of the intention to place Mr Dolph on the committee got Mr Farley to resign, and named Mr Slater as their selection. To all appearances this was done to prevent Mr Dolph from going on the committee and to give Mr Slater whose term is about to expire a little prestige. However the republicans adhered to Mr Dolph, and as the democrats had a right to name a member Mr Slater also got a place on the committee and hence it is that Oregon has two members on the senate committee of commerce.

Mr L E Chittenden formerly register of the treasury in an argument before the house committee on commerce in behalf of proposed legislation regulating inter-state commerce, expressed the opinion that the New York railroad commission, which had been in operation for only about eight months had conferred a benefit upon the people. This was due to the fact that so far as state commerce was concerned its decisions had been acquiesced in by the railroads. Mr Depew who was justly powerful because he was probably the ablest railroad man in the country had thrown his influence in favor of acquiescence. The commission had recommended a reduction of rates in several instances and rates had been reduced. But as far as inter state commerce was concerned the commission had not been effective. If such a commission as that provided by the law of New York could be provided for inter state commerce he had no doubt that it would correct many existing evils.

More Massachusetts women "of assured position in life" who don't want the suffrage, of whom a correspondent writes are not singular. There are plenty of men of the same kind. In fact the indifference to political and the public duties on the part of our wealthy or well to do classes is one of the heaviest loads the country has to carry. These people (of both sexes) mostly seek their own pleasures or other selfish ends and are bored with everything else. The future of the country is not in the hands of its dandlers "of assured position in life" but in those of men and women who realize that things ought to be done and who push ahead to do them.

It is reported that members of congress are speculating in the stocks of railroads whose land grants they are asked to declare forfeited. They are selling for future delivery at the prices of to-day stocks which they do not now own but which they calculate they will be able to buy at greatly reduced prices before the end of the session. In the case of the Northern Pacific alone there have been speculative sales of the first mortgage bonds by members of congress to the amount of a round million of dollars. It is to be hoped that they will make enough to pay the salaries of their private secretaries.

New York furnishes an apt illustration of the fact that many eminent people sign papers and give money with little regard or trust to what they are doing in the arrest of two smart young men for swindling a number of prominent citizens. They called on General Grant and made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the Irish American benevolent association, a purely bogus affair. The general headed a paper with $10 and then the swindle was floated so that several hundred dollars had been raised before the fraud was exposed. Among the victims are Congressman Hewitt, Gen Pryor, Elihu Root, Hamilton Fish, Roswell P Flower and Gen Lloyd Aspinwall.

The cost of escorting the body of the late Congressman Haskell from Washington to Kansas was $3561. Like previous congress on al funerals this one was turned into a picnic in which large quantities of expensive food and drink and cigars were consumed and extravagant sums expended for kid gloves, sashes and other mourning emblems. So much has been said in the newspapers about these scandalous expenditures that the committee on accounts notified the funeral committee when Mr Mackey died that it would approve no bills for his funeral that were not absolutely necessary.

The Boston Journal says it cost the two parties and private individuals more than two hundred thousand dollars to carry on the state campaign last year. The bulk of this money was wasted. It went into the pockets of political bummers and we do not believe that one hundred votes were affected by this expenditure. Probably not. But these bummers are a corrupting force in politics and it is as bad if not as criminal to support them as it is to pay the poor man money for his vote.

While the drift of public sentiment in this country is unmistakably in favor of rational temperance legislation of applying to the liquor traffic a practicable system of restriction and control Senator Blair of New Hampshire is occupying the attention of congress with the vain attempt to secure prohibition in the District of Columbia, the place of all others in this country where prohibition could not be enforced.

It is said that with two or three exceptions every democrat in congress desires to have the civil service commission abandoned. Some of them think the whole plan of reform is a humbug, but the great mass of them are thinking about the 4th day of March, 1885 when they hope to have the control of the government. They do not want the commission because it stands between them and many thousand offices.

There is some talk already about the school election soon to take place. The election is unnecessary, the city superintendent is board of directors and boss of the machine. Every possible thing done in relation to the schools is merely the edict of his will backed up by the rules of the institute of teachers and the flummery of the machine. Since the public know the power that actually controls the schools election of directors is superfluous.

Ex Speaker Keifer's nepotism in dismissing a house stenographer at the close of the last congress to make room for his nephew has a parallel in the case of Senator McMillan's appointment of his son at the same time to be clerk of the committee of commerce. His son is a college student who has scarcely visited Washington since his appointment. Keifer's case has been investigated but senatorial courtesy will save Mr McMillan from the necessity of making an explanation.

The St Louis Globe Democrat exclaims in a despairing tone that democratic candidates for governor of Missouri are multiplying with such rapidity that it is difficult to keep track or count of them. The office is not seeking the man to any extent that we know of, but about twenty men are seeking the office. The probability is one of the sacker will get the office for that is the way they do in Missouri.

It is very gratifying to learn that the Yellowstone Park Improvement Company, which was organized by Rufus Hatch and others, to impose upon tourists, has come to grief.

I HAVE THIS DAY SOLD TO MESSRS. BLAKE, Robbins, McFall & Co. the business carried on under the name of the Clackamas Paper Company at 102 Front st., Portland, and would ask from the public for them the same liberal patronage they have bestowed on me. The new firm will have the agency for the Clackamas Paper Mill. In order to close the business prompt payment of bills due the Clackamas Paper Company is requested. H. L. PITTOCK.

January 1 1884.

Having this day purchased the stock of the Clackamas Paper Co. at 102 Front, and doubled it by [illegible] shipment from Eastern mills, made especially [illegible] we are now prepared to furnish the trade [illegible] goods in our line at as low prices as can be had in the San Francisco market. Having a resident partner in New York to place our orders with the mills and [illegible] we save jobbers' commission and can give the benefit [illegible] that we are agents for Byron Weston's celebrated ledger papers, Crane Bros. & Crane & Co. CITY.

EFFECTS OF A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR.—On the first of the present month The Oregonian printed a list of the marriage licenses that had been issued by the county clerk during January and in this list were the names James A Himes to Jennie A Royal. A few days afterward the county clerk received a dispatch from Pendleton Oregon as follows: "Please write me description of James A. Himes who obtained marriage license January 31. Mrs James Himes." The clerk did as requested, and presumably upon the strength of that description the following appeared in the Pendleton East Oregonian January 31: James A. Himes 29 and Jennie A Royal 20. The above item appeared in the list of Portland marriage notices for January. The groom is a well known sporting man, who has resided in Pendleton with his family, wife and four children, for the past two or three years. Mrs or Miss Royal is no other than Miss Jennie Armond, formerly employed as a talented actress by the management of the Pendleton variety theater. The couple left Pendleton only a few days previous to their marriage which was a great surprise to a large number of people. Jim Himes has always borne the name as a square man of his kind and the greatest enemy he ever had never surmised he would ever prove untrue to the woman he had formerly acknowledged as his wife. She has commenced legal proceedings against her truant husband." This bit of sensational news was reprinted in the Evening Telegram of this city and thus came to the notice of the newly married couple to whom the license was actually issued on the list of January. Whereupon it transpires that a typographical error is the entire cause of the Pendleton Post and marital muddle. The man who was married in this city was James A. Hines (not Himes), a son of Rev H. K. Hines and his wife is a daughter of James F. Royal, a well known farmer who lives about two miles east of the city. The publicity thus given to their marriage was thought that the blunder was too palpable to do them any harm or cause them any uneasiness. Whether therefore Jim Himes of Pendleton still remains a square man toward his wife and four children is a matter that is yet in doubt. Although he may be far from his home, it is certain he has not committed bigamy in Portland.

[illegible] Judge Smith yesterday rendered a [illegible] on a motion in the suit of [illegible] against Holladay, the particulars of which are now quite familiar to the reading public. [illegible] strike out the second amended complaint in the case and gave [illegible] days to file a third amended complaint. In passing the points of the case Judge Smith said substantially that if the instruments were deeds when executed they are deeds now. If there was any such an agreement that Joe would reconvey property that he might [illegible] it would be tantamount to [illegible]. [illegible] the title is with Mr Ben Holladay now. [illegible] The judge further stated that the [illegible] and [illegible] it should be taken as parts. This would shorten and make it more intelligible. The exhibits ought not to be considered a part of the pleading. As they are made a part of the all [illegible] they are not intelligible.

[illegible] WEATHER YESTERDAY.—Yesterday morning the wind which had been northerly for several days was [illegible] and there was a feeling of [illegible] and mildness of [illegible]. [illegible] The barometer was [illegible]. About 1 P M a slight sprinkle of snow began falling which melted as soon as it touched the ground and which [illegible] "P. M., turned to a gentle rain. The temperature east of the mountains showed a marked improvement over the preceding [illegible] hrs. From The Dalles to Riparia the thermometer ranged from ten to twelve degrees and at Walla Walla eighteen degrees. At 11 A. M. the temperature at Riparia rose to twenty-eight degrees with southerly wind. The steamers on the Snake river which had been preparing to go into winter quarters started out on their regular trips. There was considerable ice running from Willows to Celilo. A dispatch from Fort Canby reports snow falling there yesterday morning from 6 to 10 o'clock. If the wind will only stay in the south there will be an end of snow for the present at least.

BRIDGE AND BLOCKADED.—The builders of two small houses on Tenth street just east of the bridge across Tanner creek, have almost blockaded the bridge with lumber. Only a very narrow passageway is left hardly sufficient for a wagon to pass through and after dark it would be almost impossible to drive a team through without collision with a pile of lumber. No objection can reasonably be made at the occupation of some of the street by builders but there is plenty of room on either side of the bridge to pile their stuff and it looks as if they filled the bridge full because it was a cleaner spot and they didn't want to get their fingers dirty by putting the lumber in the mud.

WILL TRY ONCE MORE.—Some time ago a town site was laid out on the Chehalis river about three miles from where it empties into Gray's harbor. The town was to have been called Cosmopolis but it never materialized. The site has been recently purchased by four enterprising gentlemen of means who have commenced the work of clearing and have several buildings in course of construction and the prospects are that this place will become a point of importance in the Gray's harbor country which will develop rapidly in the near future. Mr Wm. Nims one of the proprietors of the townsite is in the city on a business visit preparatory to embarking in general merchandising.

DANISH RELIEF SOCIETY.—Over a score of the most prominent Danish citizens of Portland met Thursday evening at the office of L. S. Larsen, Danish vice-consul, to effect a temporary organization of what is to be known in the future as the Danish Relief Society. L. Sorensen acted as chairman and a committee of five consisting of A. Rasmussen, L. Thankelsen, L. C. Henrichsen, L. S. Larsen and S. J. Nelson were appointed to draft a constitution and by laws for the government of the society. The meeting adjourned at a late hour to convene again on Sunday the 20th inst., when a permanent organization will be effected.

A HOODLUM SCHOOL.—At the rear of Butler's grocery on Fourth street between C and D streets is a room where boys of twelve to fourteen years and thereabout congregate nightly to play billiards, shake dice and amuse themselves in other manners peculiar to youths of that age. They are allowed to stay around there far beyond the hours which such lads should be in bed. From all accounts the place is a genuine training school for hoodlums and should be looked after by the police.

CHANGING A STEAMBOAT'S NAME.—The little steamboat Robert G. Ingersoll, which was sold some days ago by the sheriff to satisfy a debt, and which has never made any other than her trial trip has suffered a change of name. The new owners were not in love with the great infidel and did not care to assist in perpetuating his name, so they took the usual steps and obtained the consent of the authorities at Washington to call the little boat Theresa Ms.

MOVED IN.—Hose Company No. 1 have taken up their residence in their new house at the foot of D street and made their first run to Mrs West's fire. The boys' quarters in the upper story of the house are fitted up in tasty style. Joe King is foreman. Will Allen driver and there are six extra men all of whom will lodge in the building. The boys will give a good account of themselves and the new hydrants at the earliest opportunity.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETINGS IN THE VALLEY.—Rev Dr Lindsley has gone to Albany by presbyterial appointment to conduct a series of meetings. He will preach Sunday evening in the court house at [illegible] meeting of the churches. On Monday he will proceed to Eugene to assist in similar services. He [illegible] to this city on Thursday. To-morrow Prof. Wyckoff recently from the east will supply the pulpit.

APPOINTMENTS BY BISHOP MORRIS.—The bishop expects to make his spring visitations as follows: Pendleton March 16; St Stephen's chapel Portland, March 23 A M; St David's East Portland, March 23 P M; March 30 Astoria; April 6 Oregon City A. M.; St Stephen's P M; Trinity, Portland April 13; Trinity Portland A M; St Matthew's, P M, April 20; McMinnville.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.—At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Otto and Horace Schram, sons of John S. Schram of Oregon City, aged respectively 10 and [illegible] years, while skating on a lake in the Clackamas bottom, below Oregon City, broke through the ice and drowned before any assistance could be rendered them. The bodies were recovered about 5 o'clock.

REGARDING FORFEITURE OF LAND GRANT.—A special meeting of the common council is called for Monday evening next. It is understood that the subject to be considered in the course [illegible] shall pursue in regard to the forfeiture by congress of the land grant of the O. & C. R. R. The board of trade will also hold a special meeting for the same purpose.

DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND.—The vacuum motor invented by Oswald Sifert has been mentioned in these columns several times. The first machine which was intended to run by air was completed several months ago and proved a complete failure. Then another, in which water was to be used, was decided upon. A brass working model of this was completed several weeks since and failed to work. It was said that there were some imperfections in its construction and a force of machinists tinkered with it for two or three weeks. Finally it was fixed up so that by vigorous exertion an alleged pressure of twenty-five pounds was raised. As it is to be run by the pressure of the atmosphere on a vacuum which is figuratively fifteen pounds to the square inch but practically is only thirteen, it is difficult to understand what the twenty-five pounds pressure consisted of. At all events the second machine like the first is a complete failure. The inventor is now figuring on a third machine with a vacuum at each end and its inner side filled with [illegible]. [illegible] but it won't. The two machines made by Sifert have been examined by numbers of mechanics every one of whom pronounces them as certain to prove failures. The believers in the machine are persons for the most part entirely ignorant of mechanics and who cannot therefore understand Sifert's idea, and therefore think there must be something in it. When it is remembered that the pressure in steam boilers is from 100 to 150 pounds to the square inch it is difficult to see how much power is to be obtained by atmospheric pressure which never can be made to reach fifteen.

GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY.—Frank Gray alias Rhinehart was tried and found guilty of grand larceny, in the state circuit court yesterday. Gray was arrested several weeks ago and indicted for stealing a suit of clothes, a watch and some other articles of wearing apparel worth $43 50 from Gus Johnson while working in a logging camp at Fisher's Landing W. T. The following jury was impaneled: B. B. Witherow, J. B. Wilson, Steve Brown, Daniel Dunbar, Clark Hay, William Barnes, Lewis Love, A. L. Rumsey, J. H. Hall, T. M. Coleman, Isaac Barnes, W. A. Cordell, Harrison B. Oatman. Prosecuting attorney Caples opened the case with a brief statement to the jury and the taking of testimony occupied nearly the entire afternoon. Shortly before five o'clock the case was given to the jury who soon after returned a verdict of guilty as above stated. Gray was remanded to jail and will be brought up next Monday for sentence.

FOUR AND A HALF DOLLARS FOR FIVE CENTS.—Yesterday in the case of the United States against Jo Hamilton, charged with passing counterfeit money at Harrisburg, Oregon on October 11 last the defendant was ordered to appear in the United States circuit court for arraignment on the 15th inst. The complaint is made under section 645 and alleges that on the date aforesaid Hamilton purchased of a dry goods dealer named Jerry Hayes a pair of socks giving him in payment what purported to be a $5 gold piece and received $4 50 in change which turned out to be an old fashioned five-cent piece gilded and made to represent a $5 coin, to a certain degree.

MAIL ROBBERS IN COURT.—Wm. A. Stillwell and Daniel T. Hill were arraigned before Judge Deady in the U. S. circuit court yesterday morning on a charge of robbing U. S. mails near Camas prairie, Coos county some weeks since. Young Stillwell, the brother in law of Hill pleaded guilty, but Hill pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for March 11. One of the postmasters in Coos county whose mails had been tampered with said that the young man Stillwell had told so many stories concerning the robbery lately that he hoped he would tell one now and stick to it. From this it would appear that his statements are not to be believed implicitly.

HO KIM THE CHINESE "JOKER."—In the police court yesterday Judge Moreland gave his decision in the case of Ho Kim who was charged with attempting to steal $800 from a drawer in a Chinese lottery office and held the defendant to answer before the grand jury in the sum of $[illegible] bonds which he furnished. When arrested Ho Kim was inclined to treat the matter as a huge joke, but it was proven he tore down a counter in his frantic efforts to get at the money drawer or something else. His friends say the trouble resulted from their fusal of the managers of the lottery to pay a prize that had been won by a friend of Ho Kim.

SERVICE OF SUMMONS SET ASIDE.—In the cases of Lung Chung vs. the Northern Pacific railroad and Isaac Buchanan vs. the same company—both being suits brought in the U. S. circuit court for damages arising from personal injury. Judge Deady yesterday gave a decision setting aside the service of summons made upon Paul Sanborn, agent Sanborn of the railroad company. Sanborn was served with the papers because he was the highest in authority of the company in this state but the ruling of the court precluded such service upon the agent because the cause of action did not arise in this district.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATES.—Thirty three pupils passed the examination of the Grammar school last term and have been promoted to the High school. They received their instruction during the last term from Prof. C. W. Roby. The grammar school [illegible] during the ensuing term will be under the instruction and charge of Prof. Pratt, principal of the Harrison street school and Miss [illegible] Sabin principal of the North school.

ARRAIGNED [illegible] MURDER.—Patrick Keefe who was brought down from Alaska a few months ago on the charge of killing a man at [illegible] early in the fall was arraigned in the United States circuit court yesterday before Judge Deady and a plea of not guilty was entered. [illegible] attorney applied for an order to subpena witnesses which order was allowed and the trial of the case was set for March 10 next.

FINED FOR DRUNKS.—William Sharon was arraigned in the police court yesterday charged with begging in the street and this being established he was fined $[illegible] which he is now serving out in jail. Sharon is a hale hearty [illegible] and [illegible] he would [illegible] saw in excellent shape. He is [illegible] worthless however to exercise himself in this manner.

VALLEY CROPS UNHARMED.—Reports from various points up the Willamette confirm the statements that little or no danger is to be apprehended from the cold snap. The ground was quite dry before the freeze and a heavy rain would soak the ground and after freezing occur all crops will escape unharmed.

NEW PASTOR FOR THE BAPTISTS.—At a meeting of the members of the First Baptist Church of this city, held Thursday night at the close of the prayer meeting a call was extended to the Rev J. Q. A. Henry pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Sacramento, California to become the pastor of this church. It is understood that Mr. Henry will accept the call.

NORTHERN PACIFIC EXCURSION.—The Chicago Tribune of February 2 has this: "The Northern Pacific has fixed upon May 21 as the date of its general excursion from Chicago to Portland Oregon and return. Mr. J. R. Berry special passenger and general tourist agent will be in charge."

The M. E. Sunday school at Bellwood has elected the following delegates to the State Temperance Alliance which meets here on the 9th inst.: Mrs. L. S. Chapman, Miss Claire P. Morgan, Louis Eaton and A. F. Miller.

The farmers and shippers of Centerville, Umatilla county, agreed that they would pay one dollar per ton extra freight on their wheat shipped to this city if the railroad were finished in time to move last season's crop. The road is finished and the company are now carrying the wheat at regular rates.

About 3 o'clock last night Ah Chung, a Chinaman threw pepper into the eyes of another Chinaman who was walking with a sack of money in each hand near the corner of Second and Alder. Chung then made a grab for the bags but the man clung to them like grim death. The thief was afterwards arrested and locked up.

The ice on Guild's lake, or rather the slough which used to be at that place was strong enough to allow of skating over the entire surface, and hundreds availed themselves of the first opportunity offered this winter to display their skill in that sport. Fires were built along the shore, and a very merry time was had by all concerned.

The Sacramento Record-Union [illegible] says: Canvasbacks are so plentiful in the Columbia river this season that they are selling in the Portland market at twenty five cents per pair. The writer of that paragraph is away off as canvasbacks have been scarce here all the season and readily bring from $6 to $6 [illegible] per dozen at wholesale.

AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

You note that the Springfield Republican publishes a remonstrance from leading women of its county against the further imposition of political duties upon their sex with the added remark of that paper that "the signers are generally ladies of assured position in life and heads of families." Massachusetts has a law providing that women may vote for certain school officers not unlike the one which has been upon the Oregon statute book for more than twenty years. It is also found that very few of the sex there [illegible] avail themselves of the privilege. [illegible] the authorities of the former state have steadily refused to further extend the elective franchise to women and the remonstrance referred to is directed against the further extension. The women of Massachusetts who sign the remonstrance are undoubtedly of the class the Republican describes—"ladies of assured position in life and heads of families." They are also of the best and worthiest of New England womanhood—the class who have been and will be the mothers of the sturdy sons which New England has sent, is sending and will send over the new west. Of the other and large though clamorous class of women—those who are agitating and petitioning for the further imposition of political duties—I have occasion to say no more than to ask to which class would Oregon entrust its daughters for rearing and education if sending them abroad.

It was ordered that rule 3 be amended by adding the following:

Provided, That any teacher may be relieved from the conditions of this rule upon filing with the board prior to a regular examination a written notice of an intention to resign at the close of the term in which such examination occurs. In such cases the temporary certificate already provided for in rule 8 shall be considered valid until such resignation shall take effect.

THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT

The organ and vocal concert for the benefit of the organ fund of the Calvary Presbyterian church under the direction of Mr. Edward Cockingham called forth an audience of over 500 people, even the aisles being filled, a flattering compliment both to Mr. Cockingham, whose untiring energy and zeal and the ready assistance of the participants the entire success of the concert was due. The programme was opened by Mr. Hoyt, the church organist with an organ solo followed by the trio, "Protect us through the Coming Night," rendered by Mrs. Coursen, Mr. Masten and Mr. Kinross. After Ernst's Elegie, a violin solo by Mr. Edgar F. Coursen, "The Lost Chord," an especially appropriate selection, was sung by Mrs. Hornick, who although suffering from a severe cold and the effects of a recent illness sang with her usual clearness of tone and excellent elocution, eliciting warm applause. This is probably the last occasion that Mrs. Hornick will appear before a Portland audience. The organ solo, "Marche aux Flambeaux," by Mr. Cockingham was rendered with great spirit, the audience sharing its enjoyment with the artist. The quartette "Good Night Beloved," sung with good effect by Mrs. Blumenthal, Mrs. Coursen, Mr. Mastin and Mr. Kinross, closed the first portion of the programme.

After an interval of ten minutes, Mrs. Coursen and Mr. Kinross rendered with fine effect a duet from Il Trovatore, which was perhaps one of the best received and meritorious selections of the evening. Mr. Burgess, one of Portland's favorite musicians, contributed to the success of the evening's entertainment a cornet solo, with excellent execution and expression. The two songs of Rubenstein by Mrs. Coursen elicited hearty commendation, and were followed by an aria from the oratorio of "Samson" by Mr. Kinross who brought his best powers into play. This selection was an exceedingly difficult one, but Mr. Kinross' powerful voice amply sustained the spirit of the piece. Mr. Hoyt made his debut as an organist upon this occasion and proved himself one of the most prominent artists of the northwest. His second solo being remarkably well rendered. The programme concluded with the famous sextette from "Lucia," which was by far the finest rendition of the evening. This is one of the best concerted pieces known to the musical world and [illegible] be given on the stage of a theater in costume would have been vociferously encored. Too much praise cannot be given Mr. Cockingham for his [illegible] of a programme which [illegible] in any musical center also in the choice of those who assisted him.

THE SCHOOL MACHINE

PORTLAND, Feb. 8.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

In your article this morning on "The School Machine" [illegible] of the [illegible] but the [illegible] of the land. The accumulating weight of [illegible] and [illegible] is great, but it takes all the strength of teacher and pupil to carry it and the weight of [illegible] in getting an education have to take a secondary place. On the [illegible] of your article I am not so well posted but have my suspicions. Even that would not be so bad if it [illegible] work, but where the workings put forth little else than chaff and noise the machine is to be deplored. I am not an advocate of going back to the [illegible] old times with its simplicity and want of discipline and order yet it is undoubtedly true that an education [illegible] olden time was more easily and quickly attained than now and in our zeal to go forward we have gone too far and [illegible] methods and forms that lay grievous [illegible] upon the teacher and pupil with no compensating result. [illegible] a happy medium between the little discipline and drill and too much. If we must have one or the other give us the former. There is no propriety in requiring a pupil to write out in a tedious way all the details of minutia of addition, subtraction, etc., or of grammar or geography. If they understand thoroughly the principles that underlie these it is they have an education that is infinitely above that of being able to pass by the formal methods of our present system because they then have the foundation principles that will enable them to go forward without help in future years. I do not advocate by this a lack of thoroughness. The teaching of principles instead of forms is thoroughness. The teaching of principles buoys up and gives strength of mind and purpose to the pupil and enables him to go triumphantly forward in his work, while the endless routine of the present system befogs, irritates and weakens the pupil in both mind and body because it lacks the stimulus that always accompanies the acquisition of truth. But they pass. My little girl often comes home after one of these ordeals pale, nervous and prostrate in body and mind from sheer exhaustion in an effort to fill a half dozen pages of foolscap with a lot of spider trash, answers to a few questions that might be answered in ten minutes in a sensible way.

It is to be hoped that The Oregonian and the press of the land will not let up till a reformation is brought about. We in Portland are not the only ones afflicted. The whole nation is cursed. I do not believe that our officers and superintendents are especially to blame but they represent and uphold a system from whatever motive it be that must and ought to be modified. The teachers demand it as well as the parents.

SALEM, Feb. 8, 1884.

S. L. Stewart, appellant, vs. [illegible] M. [illegible], respondent. Judgment reversed. Opinion by Watson, C. J.

SYLLABUS

1. A complaint alleging the delivery of money to the defendant to be applied on a subsisting contract between him and the plaintiff, the failure to apply it and the subsequent payment by the plaintiff of the amount due under such contract without obtaining any credit for the sum so given is sufficient ground for an action for money had and received.

2. No allegation of a promise to repay is necessary in such a case, nor will the introduction of such averment be construed upon the allegations in the complaint to have been a voluntary payment.

D. A. Richards, appellant, vs. W. A. Sutler et al. H. Crow, respondent, his appeal from Umatilla county, decree reversed. By Watson, C. J.

SYLLABUS

In a contract for the conveyance of land the premises were described as "lot 8 in [illegible] block [illegible]" and it was provided that the purchaser should be entitled to [illegible] possession of said lot. Held the suit for specific performance that the contract was not void for uncertainty in the description and that proof of possession taken and held of a lot answering such description under said agreement was a sufficient identification.

WHITAKER'S, Or., Feb. [illegible]

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

Allow me to ask W. H. If there is it is more conclusive argument in favor of the theory he advances. I have some ideas in regard to the phenomena entirely different from any I have seen published or given to the public, and I shall probably furnish them at an early date.

TARIFF VS. FREE TRADE.

A Reply to Daniel Stewart on the Wool Tariff Question.

SALEM, Feb. 5.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Mr. Daniel Stewart challenges a statement he construes me to have made, to the effect that it was low tariff legislation which produced the destruction of sheep it was unprofitable to keep in the United States in 1843 and 1844, by showing that that was under the protective tariff of the Tyler (whig) administration, from 1842 to 1846. It would be as competent for me to claim that it was the high tariff, and not "free trade," which Mr. S. constantly endorses, which turned Edwin Hammond to the breeding and improvement of the heavy fleeced Merino in 1844. It takes more than one year—often more than two—to arrest or change business tendencies like stock breeding or wool growing.

There probably never was a body of business men watching market indications more intently than American wool growers from 1865 to 1867 were doing. Speculation had began with the civil war, and had gained strength until the war closed, early in 1865, which threw a great amount of woolen goods, bought for the army, into the general market, and in addition to that the commercial classes were ready to flood the American market with imports, and did so. The commissioner of agriculture says on this subject: "The wool growing interest involving a capital of hundreds of millions and underlying the prosperity of American agriculture in a degree, scarcely appreciated by farmers themselves, has been saved from annihilation by the action of congress in placing a duty upon the foreign article equivalent to the internal taxation endured by the wool growers, though not until the commercial class, taking advantage of the tardy progress of the measure, had inflicted a heavy blow in the introduction of more woolens in a single year than were imported in three years of the late war. It is to be hoped that a premium will never again be given to foreign production, either of wool or woolens, by imposing a higher tax upon American than upon foreign wool growers, and that the present moderate and harmonious adjustment, barely saving the two classes of producers from loss and consumers from becoming the ultimate prey of foreign monopolies, may long be undisturbed, even by the threat of agitation for repeal." [Agricultural Report, 1867, page 9.)

From the depression, begun as above stated and prolonged by a general depression in other countries, the commissioner reports an estimate of four millions of sheep killed for their pelts and tallow in the United States in 1869, four years after the close of the war, gave foreigners the entree for less than two years to the American market under the democratic tariff of 1846. Thus, it will be seen that it was probably either democratic legislation prior to 1842 or the frequent changes discouraging wool growers, which contributed to the slaughter of sheep in 1843-4.

Mr. Stewart thinks I am biased by "interest and prejudice." Yes, I certainly have interests in the question, but I hope none inconsistent with the greatest good of the greatest number of American citizens.

I may also have an opinion of the trade power of Great Britain, different from that of Mr. S., which he may call prejudice, as I was held to ill-paid labor under its laws from the age of 10 till the age of 18, and broke the bonds by immigration to the United States in 1833. There were no bonds of affection for monarchical government to break as I had been indoctrinated to republicanism and should have voted the democratic ticket for Van Buren against Harrison, if I had been old enough. That is the side of American politics, nine out of ten laboring men immigrating from Europe at that time took, ignorantly supposing the aim of the democratic party was to serve to the utmost the whole people. In this I was nothing different from the Irishmen whom the trade power of Britain had forced to leave starving relatives in Connaught, Connamara or Kerry, many of whom crossed in the same ship. I was twenty years a supporter of the democratic party before I clearly perceived that its free trade element, which in that period constituted its brains and its backbone, was dominating a party policy which strengthened the trade power of Great Britain, which helped to slaughter sheep in the United States by thousands, and (I ask Mr. Stewart if it is too much to say) helped to starve men, women and children in Ireland by hundreds of thousands. Has not English trade been the chief instrument of oppression of the Irish people for over 300 years, and even is now by various trade corporations absolute owner of millions of acres of Irish soil? Has not the same power conquered and dominated India and subjected some 120,000,000 of people to its service? Was it by the law of kindness on the part of the ruling power that some millions of people starved to death in India not very many years ago?

Did free trade with England bless or bane the district of Angora when the rich man of Turkey permitted Manchester cotton to be taken in and bartered for the beautiful fibre (Angora goats' hair) which was a source of living to both farmer and manufacturers, or was a famine again the result? And did not Portugal give British free trade since that, and did not the outside world hear of famine there shortly afterwards?

It sounds well to say, as Mr. Stewart does, "I trust we are arriving at that plane of civilization when we will be able to take a broader and more statesmanlike view of trade and commerce, everyone claiming that to exchange his labor with any nation, people or state, without being fined for making the exchange!" That thing used to be done, and men have gone to the coast of Africa and bought men and women for strings of glass beads, brass rings, jack-knives, guns, etc. etc. They were "ignorant" and probably "indolent," and that was one of the reasons their purchasers gave as justifying the free trade in them. The English gave the same reason for subjecting the Irish. They resold these people to American farmers, who justified themselves in the purchase and claim of property in them because they were "ignorant and indolent." They passed father to son, the idea of property rights growing stronger. The indolence was whipped out of them to compel them to labor without pay. This property being the result of free trade its owner naturally claimed the right of free trade in the disposal of the products of its labor. The owner generally called himself a democrat, and the masterful spirit that was a natural product of his home environment, made him domineering. He didn't like any animal whose product interfered with the products of the animals he owned. John Randolph of Roanoke was a representative of a class when he kicked the sheep. This class of democrats dictated the policy of their party from 1840 to 1860. Under it, while population increased 35¾ per cent. in the twenty years, sheep increased 13½ per cent.—a ratio of increase of consumers of woolen goods 22½ per cent. greater than that of the raw material out of which such goods are made. The means to feed a manufacturing population was very abundant and very cheap. The wages of labor—nothing for the ignorant black man south of Mason and Dixon's line. I have heard a lady, a wife of a member of the Oregon state senate, say she had worked in the fields of Virginia near such laborers for 12½ cents per day. It was honest work, and brave, for it brought the worker under the condemnation of the popular opinion, which made it in a sort disgraceful for a white man, more especially a white woman, to work; consequently the most intelligent and resolute of the non-slave-holding whites left the vicinity of this unpaid labor for the frontiers of the new states and territories, preferring to stand guard over their own families and little property against Indians, when necessary, to acting patrol over the rich neighbors' unpaid laboring property. Very many, and of the very best of the early settlers of Oregon were of this class, and, strange to say, nearly all democrats but they had ceased to believe in and desired to get away from that form of the results of free trade and the idea which stands out of their first attempt at law making in Oregon was to prohibit the bringing of slaves here and to prohibit the manufacture of liquor. They thought themselves free to do so, but they were not, for the decision of the supreme judge for the party was that "a black man had no rights, even in a territory, that a white man was bound to respect," and in effect the legislation of his party paid no respect to the rights of a white man anywhere, for it compelled the latter under a penalty of $2000 (was it?) to turn out and help a free trade democrat to chase, (run down if need be) a black man said democrat claimed to be his property. The supreme judge, however, was keeping the account, or the "ignorant" sufferer by this trade system, and no citizen of the United States could with proper self respect dodge his part of the fearful settlement.

No need to dwell on that—tariff and free trade alike were dormant questions for five years. Every succeeding four years which has been allotted to shows wise republican legislation tided over with little loss to producers and great national benefit, a period of depression which might have been as bad comparatively as that which commenced under democratic rule in 1837, and lasted till the commencement of the war with Mexico. During the four years of that period, from 1840 to 1844, the writer personally tested the wages of farm labor in New York and secured twenty-five cents per day for hay-making, and took his pay in home spun flannel at fifty cents per yard. This was in June, 1842. The laborer was in his 20th year. The average of coal miners wages at Pittsburg in 1842 was perhaps nominally $1 per day, as coal was dug generally for one cent per bushel of seventy pounds—one hundred bushels being an average day's work. Three and one-half tons for $1 in store pay at seller's prices. Rectified Monongahela whisky retailed at twenty five cents per gallon. Too many of the poor fellows (good democrats they generally were) took the jug road to better times. The benefits of the whig tariff of 1842 had not reached them in time. In fact never reached them or others much, as it was repealed by the democratic administration of Polk. It would be an improvement on past legislation if laws on the subject could be made to stand long enough to prove their effect, like that lately passed to protect wage earning citizens from the effects of cheap Chinese labor.

Mr. Stewart is mistaken in assuming that the granger will be satisfied with this "platform." Br far from it. The late session of the National grange passed resolutions condemning the late change in the tariff as "a discrimination against American agriculture," and recommending the state granges to "demand" the restoration of former rates. Their first object after self improvement is to increase the number of happy homes in this nation. They don't believe that will be done by a trade system which will place them in such a position towards Great Britain as the Irish people have long been compelled to occupy, and as India is now occupying. They much prefer the immigration of laborers whose object in coming here is to build homes and increase national strength to the cheapest of aliens who do neither. They believe there is both national strength and political economy in placing manufactures as close as possible to the fields which produce the raw material. They recognize the truth of the words of the great Lincoln, that "a nation consists of its territory, its people and its laws." And as the earth is the item in these three they can certainly transmit to posterity they wish to diminish as rapidly as possible the necessity of sending the richest portion of it to other countries in the shape of cheap grain. They therefore heartily endorse all efforts to plant manufacturing establishments wherever suitable sites can be found within the national domain. They also heartily endorse the second grandest act of republican party rule, the giving of a homestead from the national domain to every citizen, whether such by nativity or immigration whether skilled or common laborer who begins by the possession and improvement of the land to join the ranks of the most permanent producers.

With these objects and views the grangers of Oregon don't endorse Mr. Slater's action nor letter, in so far as it insidiously tries to increase the strifes which already exist between those of his constituents who are raising horses and cattle and those who are raising sheep on the public lands of eastern Oregon. Neither party in this strife is "furnished" with any right or privilege there. The rules of the United States government are against their building even corrals in which to keep their stock over night. An eastern Oregon statesman would instead of sowing discord amongst a class of citizens who are earning all they get, be better employed devising a law by which citizens who choose any branch of grazing interests, can become legal owners of at least 2,000 acres of these arid lands [Mr. Stewart's speech] in one body on which to build permanent homes. His grazing friends as well as his granger friends would have been better satisfied if, instead of disturbing the tariff he had tried to get a portion of the income from it to sink a few artesian wells at different points in the Columbia valley, or failing that give 1000 acres of such lands to any citizen or body of citizens who will in any way supply it with permanent surface water, sufficient for homestead and stock purposes. Such a law would apply beneficially to very much of the public lands lying between the core belt of the Missouri valley and the Cascade mountains, for which the homestead law of 160 acres of grain land is not suitable. Of course the application of such a law to such lands and to no other would involve the necessity of their listing and classification in the land offices.

A DETECTIVE SHOT.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 8.—A few minutes after 7 this evening detective Brown of Jonesville, who has been engaged on the Crouch murder case for some time, and has been operating in the neighborhood of the Crouch farm, was shot while returning to the village of Horton. He was walking leisurely along, about one and a half miles north of the village, when he met two men in a buggy. They stopped and asked him if his name was Brown. He replying in the affirmative one of the occupants of the buggy placed a revolver at Brown's breast and fired, the ball entering not far from the heart and lodging near the shoulder blade. Brown fell, and the men drove rapidly away. The wounded man, however, was able to arise, and after walking about a quarter of a mile, two young men from the city, going toward Horton in a buggy, conveyed the detective to that place. Although the wound is a severe one, it is thought it will not prove fatal. It is reported here to-night that Judd Crouch was seen in the village of Horton about dusk, and Brown thinks the man who shot him looks very much like Judd. Intense excitement prevails.

MORE OF THE NEBRASKA VIGILANTES.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 8.—A dispatch sent from here yesterday relative to "Kid" Wade and the Nebraska vigilantes is partly confirmed by a citizen, who arrived here to-day. He says the man hanged at Bassett is not "Kid," but a large, full-grown man, while "Kid" is small and boyish-looking. It was true, however, that the sheriff of Brown county had possession of "Kid" for a short time, having taken him from two vigilantes who took him to Long Pine, but the vigilantes were soon notified and came in force and retook him. It is claimed the vigilantes will not hang "Kid" until they endeavor to have him divulge the names of members of the gang of horse thieves with which he has been training. The man hanged at Bassett is believed to have been a victim of the vigilantes' vengeance, and a horse thief. People at Bassett station knew nothing of the affair until they saw the body hanging to the whistling post. They even feared to cut the body down. The whole country is terrorized, and the people are afraid to say a word.

A BAD MAN KILLED.

DENTON, Tex., Feb. 8.—A tinner named John Gardner got on a spree this evening. He rode up Oak street, where he met Dr. Lipscomb's boys, whom he made kneel down and pray at the point of a six shooter. He then proceeded along the road, playing similar pranks upon all he encountered. Finally, in front of D. V. Schmidt's dwelling, he presented a pistol at Schmidt's baby. The father grasped the infant and placed it with its mother in a back room, and Gardner galloped off. Schmidt ran to a neighbor's, borrowed a shotgun, and was returning as Gardner reappeared before the house and commenced firing into it. Discovering Schmidt, he turned and shot at him, his fire being immediately returned. Gardner was fatally wounded. Schmidt was unharmed.

CAPTURE OF A NOTORIOUS THIEF.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—"Eddie" Goodi, aged 36, a man with a score of aliases, and who is known to have been connected with a dozen of the most daring robberies ever perpetrated in the metropolis, arrived to-day, charged with participation in the robbery of the Lutheran church, on the steps of the elevated railroad station near Eleventh street and Second avenue, December 31st last.

ASSEMBLYMAN DONAHUE ARRESTED.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 8.—A dispatch was received by Speaker Sheard from an assemblyman attending the carnival at Montreal, that Assemblyman Donahue had been arrested by the Canadian authorities. The reason stated is the fact of Donahue being a fenian leader, and being identified with a fenian raid into Canada in 1866.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—James Graham, a lawyer, of this city, who had squandered his wife's fortune, killed her with a pistol while she slept, and then took his own life with a razor, nearly severing his head from his body.

OYSTER THIEVES AGAIN AT WORK.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 8.—Depredations in oyster beds in Chesapeake bay have been renewed. A steamer and a sloop, armed with rifles and revolvers, have been ordered to proceed against the thieves.

SHOT DEAD.

SAN ANGELA, Tex., Feb. 8.—Julius [illegible], who last Saturday killed J. R. Beame, was discovered near Burnett yesterday. He refused to surrender and was shot dead, receiving twenty bullets.

A BIG HAUL.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 8.—City officers' figures place Chamberlain Church's defalcation at $77,000.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Washington Territory.

The Vancouver lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen now has 52 members.

The examination of teachers in Cowlitz county will be held at Kalama on Monday next, February 11.

The new postal notes are increasing in favor, 261 being issued at the Vancouver office up to February 1.

The police force and city marshal of Vancouver made twelve arrests during the month of January. Fines and costs imposed amounted to over $66.

Hannah Carpenter, of Yakima county, has sued George Miller, of Klickitat county, for $10,000 damages, sustained from being thrown from the stage near Goldendale in October, 1882.

Mail goes out from Goldendale in four different directions and not once this winter has there been a failure of arrival or departure within time to make prompt connection with other routes.

The county superintendent of schools for Clarke county, Rev. A. S. Nicholson, is now making up the apportionment of school moneys for Clarke county. There is about $1800 less to be divided than at the same time last year, with an increase of the number of scholars, hence the amount for each scholar will be reduced from last February's apportionment.

Western Oregon.

Washington county has twelve lodges of Good Templars, with a total membership of over 600.

Hillsboro Independent: W. T. Newby, appointed by an open temperance meeting to make an estimate of the whisky traffic in McMinnville, says there are six saloons in that city with fifty customers each. These 300 customers will spend in one year for whisky, $43,800; lost time, $43,800; cigars, $10,950; total amount lost, $98,450.

J. J. Carry was badly hurt, on Wednesday, while blasting logs on his farm near Lafayette. He had put a blast in a log and lit a fuse, and after waiting a reasonable time for it to discharge, he returned to re-light it when the blast went off. His face was badly burned and considerably bruised. Fortunately, he was not fatally injured, and his eye sight will not be lost, although his eyes are burned and his wound is very painful.

Louisville Courier-Journal (dem.): That is a curious case of the West Virginia person, who, after spending thirty years of her life under the supposition that she was a woman, suddenly found that she was a man. It is about time for a certain effeminately timid section of the democratic party to make a similar discovery in relation to itself.

It is to Everybody.—E. B. Ball, druggist at Hiattsville, Kan., has this to write about Allen's Lung Balsam: "It is the best selling throat and lung remedy, and gives general satisfaction. I cheerfully recommend it."

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, Feb. 8.

Cloudy weather prevailed this morning throughout the eastern section, with the thermometer ranging from 10 to 18. At Pendleton, weather clear, thermometer 10. Celilo and Willows the river was full of running ice. Yesterday's strong wind has given way to calms.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 614 bbls flour, 290 ctls oats, 234 ctls bran, 147 ctls millstuff, 501 lbs hides, 41 cs eggs, 25,776 lbs hops, 63 bxs fruits, 5 pkgs butter, 25,626 hay. Also 110 ctl wheat, 1073 bbls flour, 3445 lbs hides, 7798 lbs hops, 154 sks flax seed from the eastern section.

SALMON SHIPMENT—Per str Oregon, Feb. 6: G. W. Hume, 1500; J. W. & V. Cook, 375. Total, 1875 cases.

FREIGHTS—A spurt in the San Francisco market with two iron sailing ships U. K. orders, has caused a corresponding better feeling here, but fails to incite new business. The Charles Cotesworth will likely lose her charter through the delay for repairs.

WHEAT—The English markets are again easier, and the general feeling is less firm. For the first day of the small valley receipts count nothing, while there is a spurt from the eastern section. The market is entirely without change.

OATS—Receipts mostly go into warehouses for a better market or charter to sell without shading.

HOPS—Stocks being fast reduced and liberal shipments are being made direct to London. New York mail dates report the market is very strong and with higher London quotations there is an increased export demand. The shipments this week will be quite 3000 bales. Choice State are in light supply and salable at 27@28c, but the bulk of the business has been in the low and medium grades. Buyers have also taken hold with greater freedom. We quote choice new State 27@28, medium do. 23@26c, low to fair do. 17@22½; yearlings 18@22c, new Eastern 15@24c, and Pacific Coast 20@26c.

CHICKENS—Rather firmer with $5 had and possibly $5 50 can be had to-night for choice.

EGGS—Fairly steady at 37½c@40c.

SHIPPING NOTES

The str Eureka is in the river.

The Banca, wheat laden, crossed out yesterday.

The Oregon reached San Francisco at 2:15 P. M.

The Mercury's cargo is coming out in good shape.

The Columbia sails from San Francisco to-morrow.

The Cotesworth is at the iron works to discharge pig iron.

The Tam O'Shanter will load piles at Ranier for San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.

Weather—Clear; frosty; wind light northeast. Rainfall yesterday .05 inch.

Freights—The market is firm at an advance.

Chartered—Br Cork, U. K., Br sh Birkos, iron, 1004 tons, 50s; and Br bk Carnegie, iron, 1200 tons, 50s.

Receipts—Wheat, 450 ctls; flour, 7009 ¼ sks; oats, 225 ctls; potatoes, 3000 sks; eggs 11,500 dozen.

Wheat—Receipts are very light. Spot market is rather firmer in tone, yet shippers do not take hold freely. Quotations nominal at $1 65@1 67½. Futures rather more active; sales on call 400 tons, No. 1 white, seller the season, $1 64@1 65; seller the year, $1 66; buyer the season, $1 77@1 72½.

Flour—No change but improvement to note; sale of Walla Walla at $4 75 from warehouse.

Barley—Spot firmer, owing to less selling pressure. Quote feed 100@105c; brewing $1 05@1 10. Futures higher; No. 1 feed, May, 97@98c; season, 92½@93¼c; buyer, season, $1 01¼.

Oats—Receipts are small, but the market fails to improve. Transactions confined to jobbing. Quote $1 50@1 75.

Bran—No. 1 wheat bran in large supply and market weaker. Quote $17@18.

Potatoes—Petaluma and Tomales, 65@75c, and receipts large; Garnet Chile, nominal at $1 50.

Dried fruit—Quiet and firm.

Green fruit—Apples, common, dull of sale; choice qualities, scarce and in demand. Quote 75c@2 50.

Salmon—Unchanged.

Wool—Steady and a fair amount of business doing, considering the smallness of stocks, which are mostly poor in quality. Sale of 100 bales fair eastern Oregon at 16@17c.

Eggs—Fresh California, easy at 24@25c.

Butter—In good shipping demand. Choice roll, 32½@37c.

A Man Who is Much Talked of in England and a Subject of Racy Cablegrams Here in Portland.

PORTLAND, Feb. 8, 1884.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As my name has been coupled with recent cablegrams from England and Ireland, linking me with certain aggressionists in Ireland and England, having me at one time arrested in London and at another in Paris, with a standing reward for my whereabouts, while I was, and am still rambling through the mineral belts of the United States—my country—I therefore once more, and for the last time protest against such cruel calumny. I am neither an assassin nor a murderer; neither do I associate with such characters nor am I connected with those monsters who would destroy life and property in England through the agency of dynamite. While my individuality has been grossly assailed by these invidious cablegrams I do not blame Great Britain, inasmuch as I trace their animus to Irish quarters, whose leaders are cravens, exemplifying the foulest lie of creation, cowering before inevitable death, and all through the instrumentality of the cross.

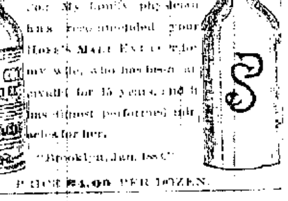
Durham is historic. It was neutral ground during the armistice between Sherman and Johnson. Soldiers of both armies filled their pouches with the tobacco stored there, and, after the surrender, marched homeward. Soon orders came from East, West, North and South, for "more of that elegant tobacco." Then, ten men ran a unknown factory. Now it employs 800 men, uses the pink and pick of the Golden Belt, and the Durham Bull is the trade mark of this, the best tobacco in the world. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco has the largest sale of any smoking tobacco in the world. Why? Simply because it is the best. All dealers have it. Trade-mark of the Bull.



If he'd gone for a package of Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco, as he was told, he wouldn't have been cornered by the bull.

THE distressing feeling of weariness, of exhaustion without effort, which makes life a burden to so many people, is due to the fact that the blood is poor, and the vitality consequently feeble. If you are suffering from such feelings, is just what you need, and will do you incalculable good.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

No other preparation so concentrates and combines blood-purifying, vitalizing, enriching, and invigorating qualities as AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.
